Parallels Desktop 4.0 for Mac

Parallels Desktop 4.0 for Mac marks the fourth generation of Parallels' hypervisor-based desktop virtualization, which enables users to run Windows, Linux and 45+ other operating systems side-by-side with Mac OS X. This document provides a step-by-step guide to reviewing Parallels Desktop 4.0 for Mac, pointing out the brightest new features and highlighting how users can get the best Windows-on-a-Mac experience.

Parallels Desktop for Mac was the first solution to enable Mac users to run Windows, Linux, and other operating systems simultaneously alongside critical Mac OS X applications on an Intel-powered iMac, Mac mini, Mac Pro, MacBook, MacBook Air, MacBook Pro or Xserve.

Unlike Apple's Boot Camp dual-boot solution, in which users must completely shut down Mac OS X and endure a full OS start-up cycle to access an important application, Parallels Desktop for Mac empowers users with the ability to run important Windows programs, such as MS Outlook, MS Access, Internet Explorer and others without sacrificing the usability, security and functionality of their Mac.

Parry Cellars Cabernet

One of the BEST Cabernet's I've tried this year, limited to only 200 cases! AMAZING! Buy EVERY bottle you can while it's still available!

2005 Cabernet Sauvignon

Parry Cellars 2005 Cabernet Sauvignon is like visiting our home in St. Helena. In one sip, you feel the warm sunshine on the grapes, smell the aroma of harvest and savor the elegance of ripe fruit. The 2005 growing season was difficult beginning with a wet winter and cool summer. Although the cool weather slowed ripening, it allowed a longer hang-time for the heavier clusters to achieve proper maturity without high sugar readings. As a result, we had one of our largest and the latest harvest ever producing 260 cases of another elegant, well-balanced cabernet with loads of fruit and soft, silky tannins.

The wine is showing a lush fruity nose with notes of blackberry, cassis, pomegranate and undertones of cumin and coriander. On the mouth, the wine has a velvety entry with notes of cherry and faint nutmeg and mocha/cocoa flavors and a lingering finish with ripe boysenberry notes. Our wine pairs wonderfully with beef short ribs, a juicy barbequed beef flat iron or roast pork tenderloin. The wine was aged for 20 months in 100% French oak barrels (45% new / 55% once-used). We are sure you will enjoy this wine now or after bottle aging for a few years.

Harvest Date: October 6, 2005	pH: 3.77
Brix at Harvest: 26.2°	Bottling Date: June 11, 2007
Alcohol: 13.5%	Production: 260 cases
Total Acidity: .57g/100ml	Release Date: October 2008

And tell them AutoSpies.com sent you!

Parry Cellars, Napa Valley's smallest single vineyard winery, is proud to offer you our finest cabernet sauvignon wine (granted, it is our only wine). The wine comes from our family owned vineyard on the east side of the Silverado Trail, north of the town of St. Helena. This single vineyard, 100% cabernet sauvignon is grown on rocky soil studded with obsidian.

Depending upon Mother Nature, our small vineyard averages three tons of grapes each year, resulting in a limited release of approximately 200 cases. The vines, lovingly hand tended and stressed by the rocky soils, close spacing and an exceptional microclimate, produce a rich, elegant cabernet. Our wine is a labor of love that we are sure you will enjoy now and in the future.

AutoSpies.com says enjoy this GREAT Cabernet but be sure NOT to drink and drive!

Francis Ford Coppola Director's Cut Zinfandel

Made with fruit grown entirely in the Dry Creek Valley appellation, this unique Zinfandel includes small amounts of Petite Sirah. Half of the fruit is crushed whole, and the must is fermented in open-top fermenters for maximum color extraction and flavor enhancement. The wine is aged in French oak, which adds the essence of toasted spice and French vanilla to heady aromas of rum raisin, black currant, and red cherry.

2007 Dry Creek Valley Zinfandel

“Winemaking and filmmaking are two great art forms that are very important in the development of California. They both start with raw ingredients—in the case of wine, the land and the grapes, and in the case of film, the script and the actors’ performances. The winemaker takes these raw materials and ferments and blends. He says yes to the batch, no to that one. The director does the same thing: a series of yeses and nos, from casting and costuming to edits and sound mixes. In both cases you have to start with top notch raw materials—whether it’s the land or a script.”- Francis Ford Coppola

Filmmaking and Winemaking Intersect In Sonoma

When Francis Coppola chose Sonoma County as the home for his new winery, he did so because of the area's beauty and winemaking potential. By selecting Sonoma, Francis provided our winemaker Corey Beck, a Sonoma native, the opportunity to make wines with grapes grown in his own proverbial backyard. Director's Cut wines are the result—appellation-designated wines from Sonoma's diverse and distinctive appellations.

Dry Creek Valley

There are two methodologies for growing Zinfandel in Dry Creek Valley. One consists of traditional farming practices, which includes the dry-farming of head-trained, spur-pruned vines, that are quite mature and severely thinned in the spring to produce low yields. The other employs more modern methods, including bilateral cordon, spur-pruned on-wire trellising, drop irrigation, and carefully manicured canopies. We source our Zinfandel grapes from vineyards on the benchlands and hillsides, which are farmed both ways. The combination of the area's climate, our vineyard sites, and the two types of the farming methods used produces excellent fruit with intensely concentrated flavor.

Vintage profile

The 2007 vintage was a winemaker's dream, and, quite possibly, the vintage of a lifetime. An unusually dry winter gave way to a warm, dry spring, which significantly reduced the crop size. Conditions such as these typically produce very highly concentrated grapes. And because there were no heat waves during the summer months, the fruit matured slowly and evenly. As a result there was full phenolic development in our red fruit and an ideal level of ripeness, thereby making it a perfect vintage for us.

Harvest commenced in mid-August and ended on Halloween. We had the luxury of slowly bringing in the fruit, picking small lots of fruit at a time only when optimally ripe, because there was still no rain in sight. Even then, we were amazed at how profusely aromatic and pronounced the flavors were.

Winemaker's notes

To ensure that we get the maximum amount of color and flavor from our Zinfandel grapes, we use a variety of techniques, which include fermentation in open-top fermenters for approximately one week and implementing several punch downs a day. We also blend in small amounts of Petite Sirah for added structure. The wine was aged in French oak barrels for a mere twelve months. That was all that was necessary given the fully mature internal structure of the grapes and the fact we didn't want to mask a single one of this vintage's amazing aromatic compounds. This wine pushes the envelope of sheer decadence with an expressive fragrance of briary berries, strawberry jam, pepper and spice.

Deep, rich layers of blueberries, raspberries, dark chocolate and mint build and linger with a vanilla caramel finish. 12 months in French oak: 50% new, 50% 1-2 years old; Blend: 93% Zinfandel, 7%

Petite Sirah; 14.3% alcohol.

A Special thank you to AutoSpies.com fan/friend and CEO of the Coppola enterprises Jay Shoemaker.

And there is NO truth to the rumor that we are plugging this solely because he made us an offer we couldn't refuse ;)

SHUN Knives

Shun Kaji Chef's Knife

In ancient Japan, kaji (or blacksmithery) included the practice of crafting weapons fit for a samurai, so it's an apt moniker for the latest ultrafierce utensil from Shun. High-carbon steel and nickel alloy are folded together, then wrapped around a core molded from SG-2 powdered steel — that explains the ripply watermark that runs up and down the blade. The metal mashup isn't just for show: It strengthens the knife, ensuring an effortless glide through even the most onerous ingredients. The hardwood handle looks elegant and offers up a comfortable grip, no matter what your task.
